

In the spring of 2021 Ashley Taylor from Rutherglen Ontario was about to purchase a yearling Quarter Horse. Wanting to ensure a proper diet for the young filly, she decided to seek out professional nutrition advice. A friend suggested the Brooks interactive feature at www.brooksfeeds.com.

Her inquiry was answered by a Brooks Senior Nutrition Advisor, Laurie Bishop. Thus began an ongoing email dialogue discussing the best products and approach to feeding her new filly. (Jill) When Jill arrived at Ashley's farm, she needed a healthier diet to ensure proper bone growth and satisfactory weight maintenance. Nutrition Advisor Laurie Bishop's advice was to gradually get Jill on to a diet using Phase II with All Phase 20. Because some Quarter Horses are easy keepers it is important not to over feed them. Although Jill needed conditioning Ashley went slow on introducing and increasing her feed.

After a few weeks Ashley wrote back with some comments about Jill's progress and the advice she had received.

"I just wanted to reach out and thank you again for your feed recommendations. I have included a photo of Jill. We are very happy with her progress."

In February of 2022 we at Brooks wanted to follow up with Ashley and make sure Jill was still doing well. We were not surprised to hear that Jill was thriving as was another of Ashley's horses that she had sought advice for.

"Jill is doing great. Here are some current pictures of her and her sister Maggie. We love your products."

All of us at Brooks Feeds take immense pride in the products we represent especially when our customers tell us how pleased they are.

Of course, great products are only as good as the way they are applied. That is where the Brooks knowledge and experience combined with unique features like the interactive application at www.brooksfeeds.com are effective.

Looking for advice on feed choices for your horses? Contact us at <https://brooksfeeds.com/feeding-guidelines/feeding>