

Brooks helps big things happen!

Draft Horses like Belgians require very careful attention to detail when it comes to feeding. Their enormous size and generally calm personalities require a careful balance of essential minerals and vitamins combined with just the right calorie intake to support maintenance and activity. When the Jardine family discussed feed options with Brooks Nutrition Advisor Laurie Bishop a feeding plan took shape, and the results speak for themselves. In his own words Todd Jardine describes how Brooks Feeds have given them the results they wanted.

“My son, Trent, and I have carried on the family tradition of raising and showing Belgian draft horses. We show at around 10 shows across the U.S.A and Canada every year. This year we were lucky enough to have Best of Breed at the National Belgian show and Classic Halter Series Champion with our mare, Jewel. We raised and sold her mother to a friend of ours and purchased Jewel back as a foal. She has been very successful for us over the last two years with help from Brooks Feeds and Laurie Bishop. Two years ago, I met Laurie, and we talked extensively on the different options Brooks has. We decided on the Eeze Pro-Plus, Flax Appeal, and the Phase 1. I started feeding these products at the start of this year and the difference in coat and body condition was exactly what we wanted.”

Congratulations to Todd, Trent, and Karen Jardine. Brooks Equine Nutrition has fueled championship performances representing many breeds and disciplines. We're always proud to hear about our clients' successes. Thank you for sharing your story.
